

One More Time Spartans!

The Moods are celebrating our 57th year as an original garage rock band and we are excited that we can share it with our VPHS friends where it all began in October 1965. One of our very first gigs was in the Spartan Gym after a Friday night football game celebrating a team victory. It was there that we began a long journey during one of the most exciting times of Rock 'N' Roll History. We didn't realize it then, but we were part of music history from The Beach Boys, The Beatles, The Stones, and the British Invasion to the beginning of the Motown Sound. There were so many great bands that were part of the music scene. Even today you can't watch a TV commercial and not hear a great 60's song from the past. We lived it, we saw it, we experienced the greatest music that changed the world.

So fellow Spartans we would like to invite you to share this reunion night with us; relive the great music that we grew up on for three hours: "9pm-12am with The Moods". We have revived our song list to include many of the great songs from all of the original groups of the 60's & 70's. Great dance songs and including some nice and slow songs for those of you who still love to cuddle with your partner. Let's do it "One More Time Spartans" and relive the greatest time of Rock 'N' Roll. Who says mature adults can't still have fun and rock? After all, we were part of the very beginning of Rock. Just remember to bring the BenGay for the aches and pains Sunday morning. We're looking forward to seeing you there.
